Invitation to the conference

We are very pleased to invite you to attend the International Association for Educational Assessment 36th Annual Conference (IAEA 2010), which will be held during August 22 to 27, 2010 at the Ambassador Hotel in Bangkok, Thailand.

The IAEA annual conferences are hosted by different member organizations each year and recognized as a major event in assessment arena, bringing together leading assessment experts and implementers from around the world. The conference provides a platform for participants to share professional expertise and strengthen mutual relationships.

Theme and topics

The theme of IAEA 2010 is Assessment for the Future Generations. The conference program will feature keynote addresses, invited plenary talks, and presentations of papers. The parallel sessions are going to be under the following topics:

- Classroom Assessment
- Instrument and its Effectiveness
- Needs and Standards
- Policy and Practice
- Theory and its Application

IAEA 2010 Conference website

Information about the conference can be found at <http://www.iaea2010.com>, which is now online and will be updated regularly. The website also provides useful facts including social programs, visa guideline, travel information and much more.

Paper submission and conference registration

Presenters are required to submit their abstracts through the conference website by March 30, 2010. Papers to be presented at the conference should be related to, but by no means limited to, the conference theme and topics. Those who receive notification of acceptance are required to submit the full papers by June 30, 2010. The website is also the main channel for conference registration which will be open on January 4, 2010.
